Which Way Now?

SPIRITUALITY IN THE 21ST CENTURY

An activity of the Anglican Diocese of Newcastle

Introducing three inspirational speakers:

Rev'd Di Langham

Dianne Langham's tradition is Boandik (South Australian Mount Gambier). She has lived most of her life in Darkinjung and Wanaruah lands in the Hunter and Central Coast. She comes from a teaching background and is an Anglican priest and chaplain at Cessnock Correctional Centre. Di is a Seasons for Growth facilitator and also for reflection times on loss and grief for inmates and community. Wherever possible her programmes are indigenous friendly.

Cec Shevels

Cec, a Social Worker, is CEO of Samaritans. He has a long-term passion for Spirituality, Religion, Social Justice and Individual Well-being. It is his conviction that the four are linked.

Rev'd Dr. Julia Perry

While Julia was baptised as a baby, she had no contact with church or worship till her teens. This has made her always conscious of how persistently the divine reaches out to even those who have no name or knowledge of 'the other'.

Ordained 25 years, she has a lot more jargon now! Julia still delights in grappling with knowing and naming God for herself and those with whom she shares this divine creation.

This weekend, packed full with activities, workshops, prayer and worship, fellowship and fun, is designed for women to help celebrate life and the wonderful gift of our individual spirituality in a beautiful, natural setting to inspire, stimulate and encourage.
